

Candidate Profile

Tintswalo Khosa
Senior Manager, Public Relations
Nedbank

Academic Credentials

Tintswalo Khosa graduated from the University of South Africa with a Bachelor's degree majoring in Communications and Industrial Psychology in 2001 and completed a Diploma in Project Management in 2002 through Damelin. Her postgraduate studies include a first year BTech in Public Relations at the Tshwane University of Technology.

Current Work Description

As a Senior Manager: Public Relations in the Nedbank Group Communications (NGC) Department, Tintswalo's responsibilities include providing communication input into the Nedbank Group Communications strategy, developing and finalising corporate messages, ensuring consistency of these between internal and external audiences with respect to the business strategy and entrenching an integrated approach to external communication with relevant stakeholders.

Business Credentials and Skills

Tintswalo is a meticulous person and has an ability to connect easily with people. She possesses problem-solving skills and has a knack for identifying gaps and leveraging these in a positive manner.

She displays versatility whilst implementing her communications and PR duties. She is often required to wear different stakeholder hats for the interaction that is demanded of her role and she does so with ease.

Personal and Professional Learning Objectives

Tintswalo's learning objectives for this programme are to:

- Establish a base for continued exposure to best practices within the local and international banking environment
- Incorporate Emotional Intelligence with mainstream business ethics, and
- Experience a sense of progress within the Employment Equity environment.

Personal Information

Natural family closeness, cemented further by the loss of her father in more recent years, has strengthened Tintswalo Khosa's resolve to become a person of positive influence, so that she can positively influence and shape the lives of others, particularly those less fortunate than herself.
